

Description

The faux leather magazine holder is the ideal solution for organizing and displaying magazines in an elegant and functional manner. With a sophisticated design available in sand or black finish options, this holder is made from high-quality synthetic leather and features a velvety interior lining that protects the contents and adds a touch of sophistication.

Featuring a modern design and integrated handle, it is easy to transport. It is recommended to clean it with only water and neutral soap, avoiding solvents or abrasive products, to ensure the material's durability and impeccable appearance.

With dimensions of 285 x 170 x 270 mm, the magazine holder is compact enough to fit into any space while offering enough capacity to store and display a variety of publications. This product keeps magazines organized and contributes to the aesthetic of your space, making it more welcoming and inviting.

Whether in reception areas, waiting rooms, or lounges, the magazine holder is the perfect choice to enhance the presentation of your publications, reflecting professionalism and attention to detail. Invest in a holder that combines quality, style, and functionality, elevating the sophistication of your environment.
